THE COPA

To my "Big" Sister;

You've been a really good friend while I was here at R.C. I won't be here next year to say Hi so thanks for the memories of my freshman year. You're gonna be a mighty senior next year & you'll be the choice of the class of '64. Remember me always as your "little" sister.
Love & Luck

Mary Kay, It has really been (loads) of fun having you as a friend. You have really been a swell and the rest of the spirit in 9-I. I will always remember you as a big heart. I hope you will be able to return to Ramona (loads) of fun having you as a friend. You have really been a swell and the rest of the spirit in 9-I. I will always remember you as a big heart. I hope you will be able to return to Ramona this year. You've been a great help to the Seniors with the Juniors and I have led the Seniors with the Juniors and I have led the Seniors with the Juniors this year. You've been a great help to

Dedication

"To inspire love is a woman's greatest purpose." When that woman is in a position of authority, her influence can lead those she guides to glorious heights of achievement. Our school is blessed with such a person.

For the last six years our beloved Sister Superior has shown only kindness and sincere devotion in her direction of our school. She has been the head; but even more important, she has been the heart which we know to be the source of goodness and love without which the body cannot exist.

It has been said that as a person sows, so shall he reap. Dear Sister Superior, you have sown only the seeds of generosity and unselfishness by always making yourself available and ready to listen to even the smallest of our problems. Consequently, you have reaped from each of "your girls" a special love in return.

It is as a token of this deep affection that we lovingly dedicate to you, dear Sister M. Virginia Rose, our COPA for 1963.

Foreword

Although the architecture and grounds of Ramona are impressive, these externals are like a beautifully wrought chalice, only as meaningful as that which it contains. To those who cherish Ramona as their Alma Mater, her value is determined by a special spirit, an atmosphere arising from the living members, faculty and student, who breathe into her halls an air of warmth and enthusiasm, who mutually give of all that they are.

This is Ramona:

A most capable faculty who desire to guide as well as to instruct

A school day of classes and contacts which result in growth and learning

A student body marked by the friendliness of

Seniors who appreciate most what they must leave behind

Other classes who reach toward goals still to come

Activities that help to form us in

Leadership and social graces through student body organizations and functions

Spiritual growth through retreats and sodality projects

Physical growth through sports and games

The 1963 COPA has endeavored to present all the special ingredients that combine to fill the chalice of our school. One who drinks deeply from this source leaves it refreshed, strengthened and enriched.

Faculty

An integral part of any school is the faculty; this is true especially at Ramona where a spirit of friendliness unites teachers and students in common endeavors. We learn much from our faculty not only on the intellectual level, but also in the sphere of everyday life. Respecting their experience and knowledge, we turn to them for help in many areas where their counsel is needed and appreciated.

Our teachers unselfishly give many hours to us in preparation of classes and moderating various school organizations. They share with us our joys and sorrows and make us feel the personal interest they have in our welfare. Guiding us with gentleness and strength, they aid us in our growth toward Christian young womanhood. For all these things we are truly grateful.

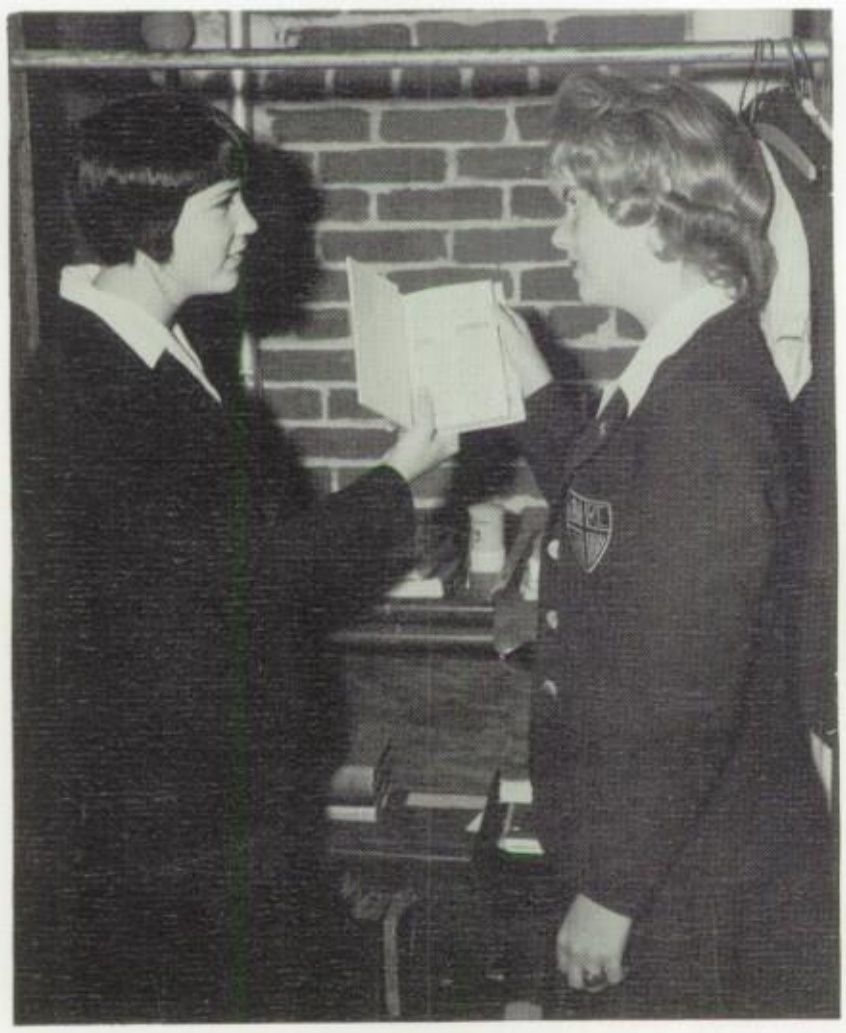
School Life

A school day has many aspects, presents many occasions through which we learn and grow. Our classes, of course, occupy the most prominent place in the daily routine, and the varied curriculum furnishes ample opportunities for our intellectual development. There are other contacts, too, that are a vital part of school days: car pools, exchanged comments in the halls, questions about assignments, sounds of laughter, the sudden rush with the first bell, the sudden quiet with the last, the babble of voices between periods, the eruption of joy at lunch time, activity periods, and the hundred things to do after school.

Whether in or out of classes, a sense of satisfaction pervades our days at Ramona, for each of them has been a shared experience through which we have grown in wisdom and understanding.

When a morning car pool piles out, the loss of a lunch or a passenger can mean the difference between peace and pandemonium.

Before First Bell



Ginny won't agree to a discount on lost and found articles, not even to Candy, her best customer.

Working in the Dean's office includes such duties as filing or, perhaps, answering phone calls that reassure a concerned party that Classie's snoozing in the corner.

During senior religion Sister M. Regina Ann listens in to one group's discussion of St. John's Gospel.

Our Quest for Truth

A school day may begin with a variety of subjects, but at second period all Ramona students are engaged in a common course, the seeking after religious truth. Perhaps never is the student body so united as at this time, when with one mind and heart it bends energy and purpose toward eternal matters. In religion class each year students have opportunities for discussing aspects of theology, so that with a deepened understanding they emerge not only well-informed on doctrine, but also able to explain these truths to others.

Sister Mary Annunciata seems delighted with the response of her eager sophomore religion class.

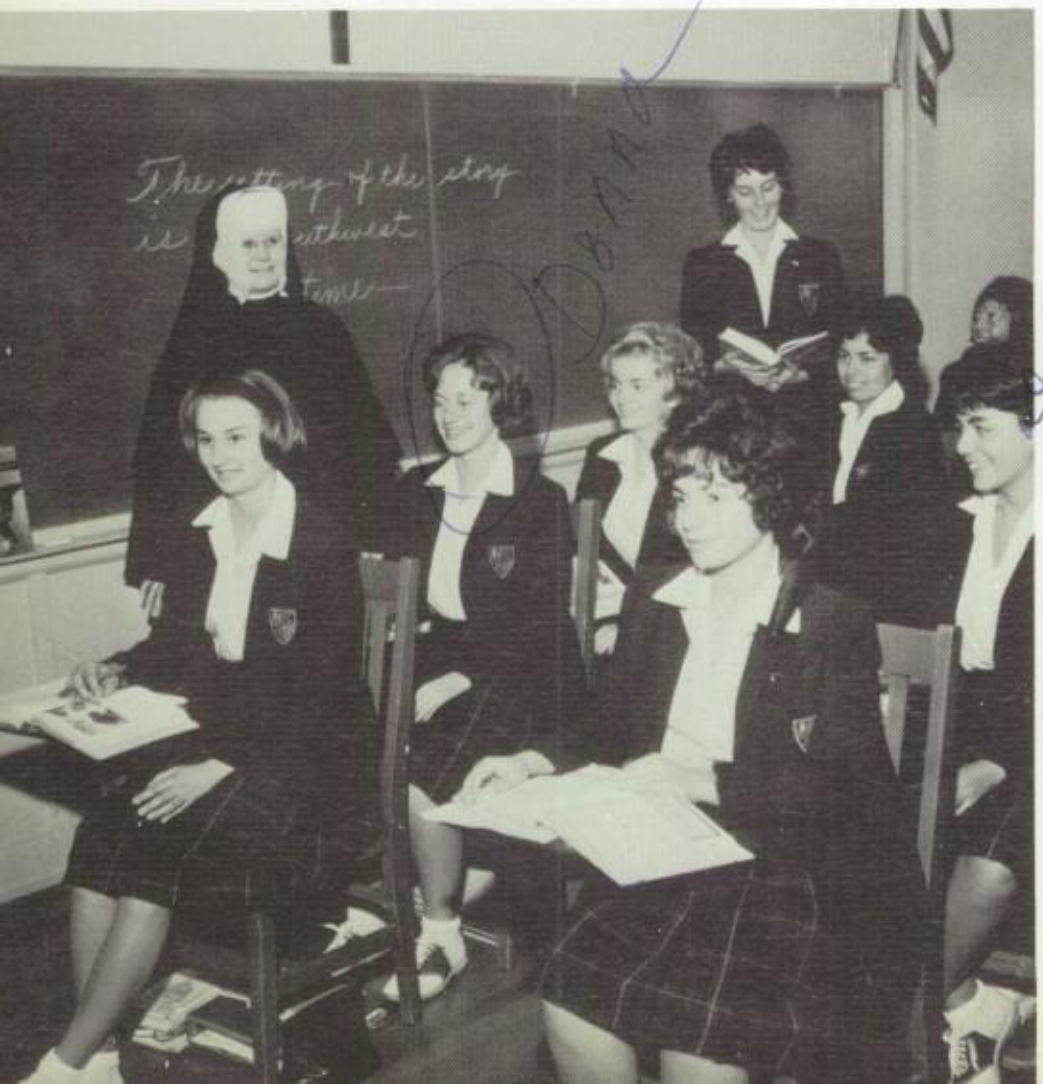
One group of seniors in English honors enjoys a lively discussion of Oedipus Rex, one play read in a study of tragedy.

Personal Enrichment

Juniors listen to selections from a short story unit in American literature.



Although the study of English includes many aspects, all serve the common end of enriching us as thoughtful and responsive persons. Through literature we are exposed to the beauty and culture of various countries. Provided, also, with introductions to the beliefs of others and a vicarious share in their experiences, our horizons are broadened, and we gain a better understanding of ourselves and our concepts and a greater awareness of life in general. Stimulated by intelligent reading to new depths of thought within ourselves, we see more clearly the need to speak and write our ideas effectively. From these combined impressions and realizations, we are better prepared for whatever we will encounter in the future.

Pageant of Ideas

Classroom explorers set sail for new horizons in U.S. history under Miss Canavan's direction.

History is the story of man from his origin, the story of our ancestors as they have developed through the centuries. From our study of history we become acquainted with our predecessors and derive a most important understanding not only of their actions, but also of the basic ideas or motivating forces behind these actions which have influenced and often changed the course of history. From this realization we gain a better insight into our present situation and a surer grasp of the role which we as individuals and as members of society play in this great pageant of mankind.

During civics, members of city councils listen to campaign speeches for county offices.

Smiling faces indicate the willingness of this Spanish II class to learn about their Latin neighbors in the South.

Latin I must have its moments of fun if the grin on this freshman's face is any indication.

Listening attentively, French honor students practice their accents by imitating laboratory tapes.

Hello and welcome to our language department! Through our competent and interesting teachers, we acquire a knowledge not only of a particular language, but also of the customs and history of the people who speak it. Language is our means of understanding others. The increased knowledge we gain through our foreign language study helps us both now and for the future by broadening the scope of our intercultural understanding.

Frontiers

In an age of expanding frontiers in science, Ramona provides her students with excellent facilities for exploration. Through discussing, seeing, and experimenting in modern laboratories under expert supervision, we acquire a knowledge of our natural world. We learn of our own earth, its inhabitants and of the universe beyond. We marvel at the secrets science unlocks for us; we experience the joy of discovery, and we begin to realize the integral part that science plays in our lives.

All these culprits have been reported to the Humane Society.

Never knowing what will be on the next test, the Algebra II class pays close attention to the problems explained.

Students of Art III and IV pause in their personal projects to enjoy Beth's artistic endeavor.

Beauty Back to God

Encouraged by their general fine arts course, freshmen learn early in their high school career to appreciate and enjoy various cultural opportunities.

Part of Ramona's plan of education for her students is their cultural development. Through a varied program in the fine arts, this aim is accomplished. Private vocal and instrumental instruction are available, with classes in music history and theory for advanced music students. Through choral and orchestra electives many more can share in a group musical experience. For those talented in art a four-year course is provided. Through general courses in music and art appreciation for both ninth and twelfth graders, the uninitiated can learn the joys of creativity, if not as artists, at least as responsive audiences. In all these ways we can grow in awareness and appreciation of the beautiful; we can give beauty back to God.

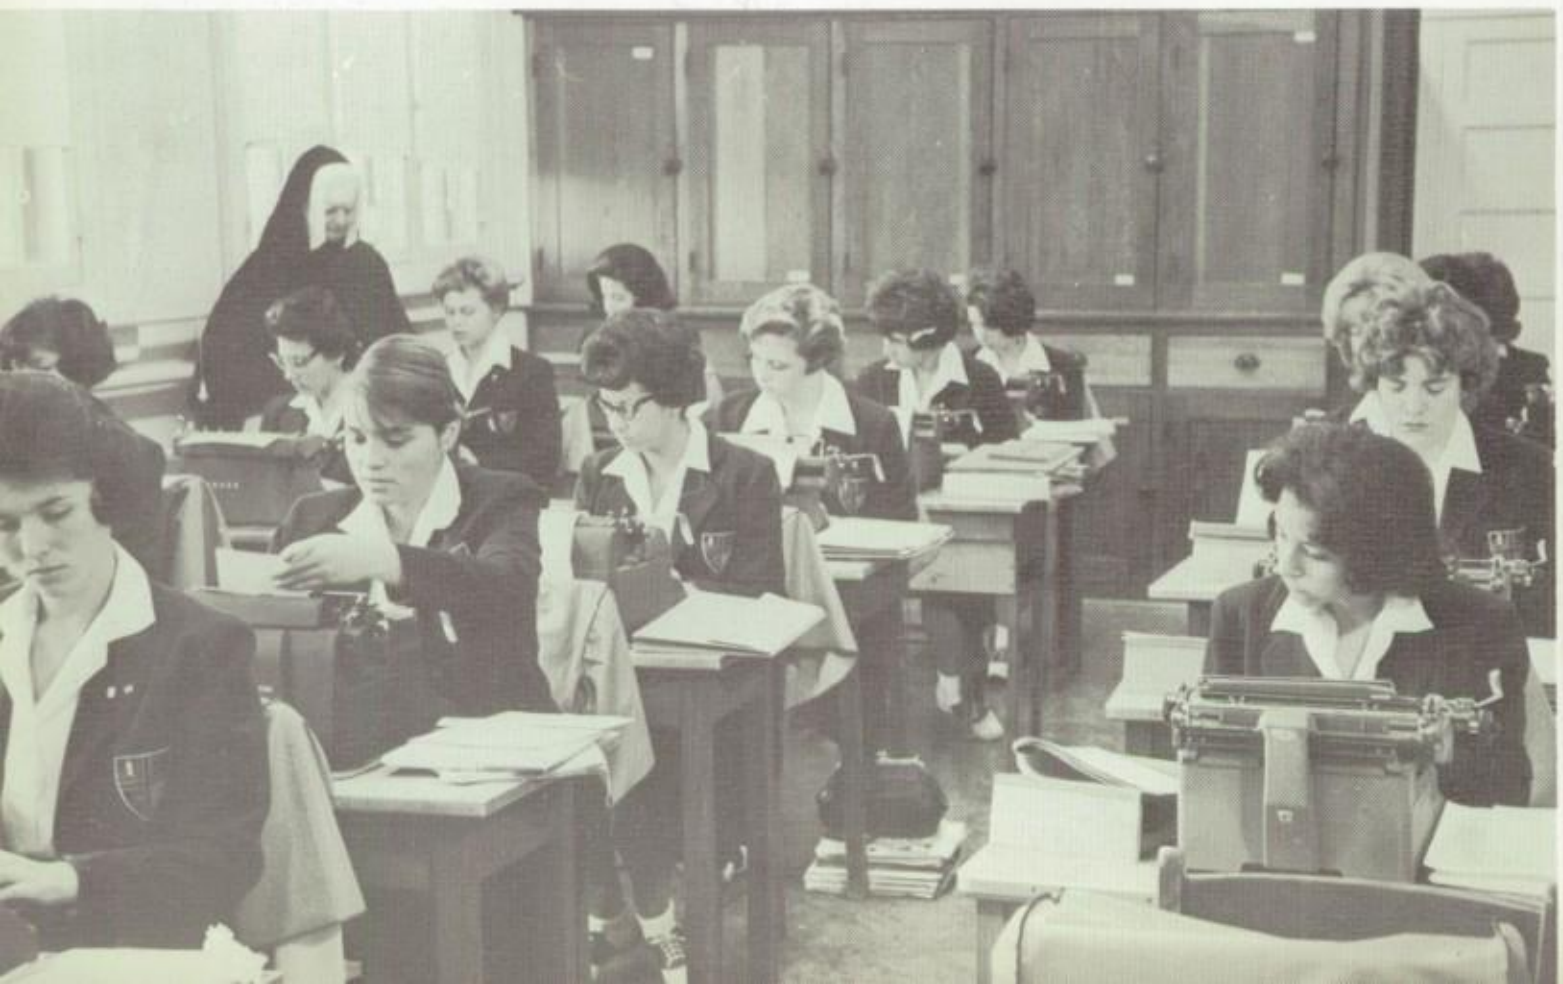
The pride and joy of all who hear them are our orchestra and choral who perform at various occasions throughout the year.

Practice in using various types of office machines and equipment is part of the training provided for our commercial majors.

Checking types of stitches, an eager group in clothing class prepare to be Future Seamstresses of America.

Proficiency and Poise

Providing excellent opportunities in business training, Ramona's commercial course well prepares a girl to take her place in the business world. The success of our graduates in this area is effected by the stress placed not only on office procedures and skills, but also on many of the fine points of poise and personality necessary in a business career.



Work and Play

Ramona girls practice their shooting in archery class.

To complete the aim of total development of Ramona students, each girl participates in a physical education program throughout her four years. This program is varied and includes classes in swimming, archery, volleyball, basketball, tennis, modern and folk dancing.

A rousing game of basketball is enjoyed by all during gym.

In modern dance some seniors give vent to their creative genius.

Seniors

"We have grown in love throughout the years." In the foreword of our COPA, we wrote that many ingredients combine to make our life at Ramona a uniquely happy one. This statement is especially true of the senior class pictured here. During our four years many experiences and activities have contributed to our being the united and spirited class we are today.

In the midst of our sometimes uncomfortable feeling of awkwardness as freshmen, many new friendships were formed, and we laughed our way through initiation and dancing class.

Acknowledged from the beginning to be a very spirited class, we entered our sophomore year eager to prove this claim. Our successful Mother Rose play, plus several spirit banners, to our credit showed that we were beginning to work as a team.

As upperclassmen we began the year claimed by some to be the happiest of all. We took a leading part in school life, and found an old maxim to be true; for the more we gave, the more we received. During this year the realization that Ramona meant something very special to each of us was one more bond we shared, one more factor for unity. Several treasured memories ushered us to the end of this junior year: our Prom, the Junior-Senior Banquet, which we prepared so lovingly for our dear seniors, and the reception of our class rings. As we looked with pride at our new possessions, we saw in them a permanent, tangible bond of love between ourselves and Ramona.

Now, after what seems to be a very short time, we are ending our last year. The newness of being seniors has worn off, and we have settled down to a new kind of appreciation for the advantages Ramona has given us. We love most what we must soon leave behind. Although in youthful expectancy we look forward to the future, there is a sadness, too; for at graduation we will have completed a part of our lives that we can never recapture except in memory. It is this memory of happy hours spent in the company of those whom we have grown to love and understand that has formed a many-faceted jewel to adorn our chalice of life at Ramona. This is a treasure that each girl can take and keep with her always.

CLASS SONG

Class of '63, each one a friend;
Class of '63, true to the end.
We promise our devotion so loyal and true,
The Class of '63, Ramona, to you.
With Mary, Seat of Wisdom, by our side,
With green and silver-gray,
With strength and hope in Mary as our guide,
We'll strive to fill each passing day with
Joy and truth and grace,
And help each other find our heavenly place.
Class of '63, each one a friend;
Class of '63, true to the end.
We promise our devotion, so loyal and true,
The Class of '63, Ramona, to you.

Underclassmen

Although the seniors set the tone of a school, the importance of the other classes is paramount to that fullness of spirit which overflows the chalice of life at Ramona. These classes will lead Ramona after the seniors have become a memory. Even now they are approaching, step by step, that goal which members of the graduating class have already attained, the opportunity to take the R.C. girl's way of life with them as they face their future as Christian women.

Here, then, are the underclassmen; the juniors who will soon have the privilege and responsibility of leadership, the sophomores who will become the representatives of Ramona to their "little sisters," and the freshmen who will develop their initial capacity for being true Ramona girls.

Dear Mary Kay,
Best of luck now
and in your senior year as president. If you ever need any help or anything, remember me.
It's been great fun this year (like always), and will be even better next year as almighty
Seniors.
Have fun this summer.
Your friend,
Lorraine

Banners high, raise them high, for the Class of sixty-six,
with our Lady to guide us along.
Orange and white, we will fight with the eagle at our side;
ever onward and upward we'll aim.
So beware all foes; we're the class that really goes.
Victory shall always be our goal.
All hail to thee, Our Queen of Victory.
May you guide and protct us fore'er.

Through the years may we be ever bound by loyalty,
with our Lady to guide us along.
Unity shall prevail; in our strength we'll never fail;
ever onward and upward we'll aim.
So its fight, fight, fight 'til we reach our golden height.
Victory shall always be our goal.
We shall always be, in Ramona's memory

Student Body

Memories are made of the things we do, our reasons for doing them and the people with.whom we come in contact. A memory, however, will be of little value unless we have learned something from the experience and can use it to develop our personalities. At Ramona each girl has the opportunity to develop every phase of her personality through the organizations and activities. The united spirit and enthusiasm of R.C. girls have found expression in the class dances, skits and pep rallies. Other events, such as "Fun Day," Thank You Faculty Day and Spring Sing are planned for the enjoyment of the student body by the Student Council under the guidance of Sister Gerarda Marie, Dean. Through these events each girl has the opportunity to give of herself and to participate, remembering our motto for this year: "Give what is yours, even though it be little, as long as it is everything." With every student's giving and participation, all will benefit and find that they have added new jewels to the wonderful memory which is every Ramona girl's treasure.

Pep Club

A comparatively new organization, the Pep Club has been established to promote spirit and enthusiasm in the drives and games that occur during the school year. Two representatives to this group are elected in each homeroom; these girls work within their classes as well as cooperate with varsity cheerleaders and the Pep Club President in presenting skits at various student body rallies. Helpfulness and spirit mark this group whose service extends to any activity or organization that requests it.

"God gave us memories that we might have roses in December." A yearbook preserves the wonderful memories of one year. It is a treasurehold whose treasures can be remembered and relived at any desirable moment. We, the members of the COPA staff, have tried to produce such a treasurehold. The memories were there; it was up to us to gather them together.

Our own year is made up of the memories of summer, after-school, and weekend meetings; picture schedules and photography sessions; indescribable hours at the layout table, typewriter, copy desk, and in the darkroom; ten thousand phone calls to Mr. Christy of Christy-Shepherd and Mr. Hopkins of Mirro-Graphic; innumerable problems that suddenly arose; and, finally, deadlines, deadlines, deadlines. Each one of us is a part of our year, and together we wish to thank Sister M. Anne Regina for her part in helping to make our COPA and our year.

Now that it is all over, and you, the student body, have received the product of our work, there's not much to say except thank you to all those who had a part in its production. The end makes all the means most worthwhile.

Staff at Work

At a June meeting "red-hot" staff members met to discuss and plan the 1963 COPA.

At the beginning of the school year our new office-to-be was a storage room for books. The transformation from the bare room above to the half-painted room on the right to the finished product below was effected in part by a staff eager to have a place in which to work and to live.

During after-school and week-end hours the COPA room was often a scene of activity where any one of a thousand things might need attention.

Drama Club

Our drama club, the Masquers, under Sister Felice Marie's direction, has been very much in evidence this year. To their credit are presentations of several one-act plays which involved much hard work, especially in production. Masquers also represent Ramona in various play festivals and contests where they compete with members of other high schools.

A moment of intense drama is caught in this stirring scene from "Song of the Scaffold."

Members of the cast strike their characteristic poses in "Sorry, Wrong Number," a thrilling murder mystery.

Residents

Those who call Ramona home are members of one big family, sharing the common experience of the Christian woman's preparation for adult life.

Aside from the traditional fun of boarding school life, residents enjoy group activities such as barbeques, dances, movies, luaus, and beach parties.

Ramona's residents enjoy a relaxing afternoon after a busy day of school activities.

Las Latinas

Originating many years ago, Las Latinas is composed of girls from various Latin American countries, including Mexico, Guatemala, and Colombia. This group presents such colorful programs as the assembly honoring their patroness, Our Lady of Guadelupe, and Las Posadas celebration before Christmas vacation. Ramona is enriched by sharing in the Latin culture which these girls bring.

Art Club

Guided by Sister Mary Martha, students who belong to R.C.'s Art Club are busy and enthusiastic. Members have made posters and viewed informative movies on men and movements important in the field. Other activities include trips to museums and art galleries.

Marie Winters, Susan Stall, Mimi Kuhnmuench, Treasurer; Elizabeth Coleman, Rosemary Distaso, Joyce Muraoka, Madelyn Vento, Lydia Alcaraz, Felicia Salva, Vice-President.

Bernadette Nie, Secretary; Terry Lukes, Rosanne Corless, Shannon Dellens, Carol Valdez, Joan Rybicki, Cindy Welton, Pam Schneider, Sheila Angello, Margie Castaneda, Jackie Brand, Denise Nolin, President.

C. S. F.

A chapter of the California Scholarship Federation, the state organization for honor students, plays an active part in Ramona's academic life.

Members of this group, moderated by Sister Mary Andrew, must meet the high state-wide standards. Membership extends the privileges of quarterly meetings during school time and a C.S.F. Honors Day. The possibility of earning life membership, which makes one eligible for college scholarships, is a strong inducement to persevering effort in the academic life of high school.

Not only does C.S.F. benefit its members, but through a tutoring service also aids the entire student body.

C.S.F. Life Members: Patricia Homan, Frances Alexander, Virginia Desbrow, Carolyn Blake, Leslie Teeple, Lois Cadinha. Absent: Kathleen Hagan.

Sophomore Lind Bush is typical of before and after visiting the book room on registration day.

Schedules, fees and enthusiastic greetings mark September registration days.

Activities

Freshmen gaily mingle with upper-lower classmen during the annual hello week. A concluding assembly gave the mighty seniors a chance to initiate lowly frosh.

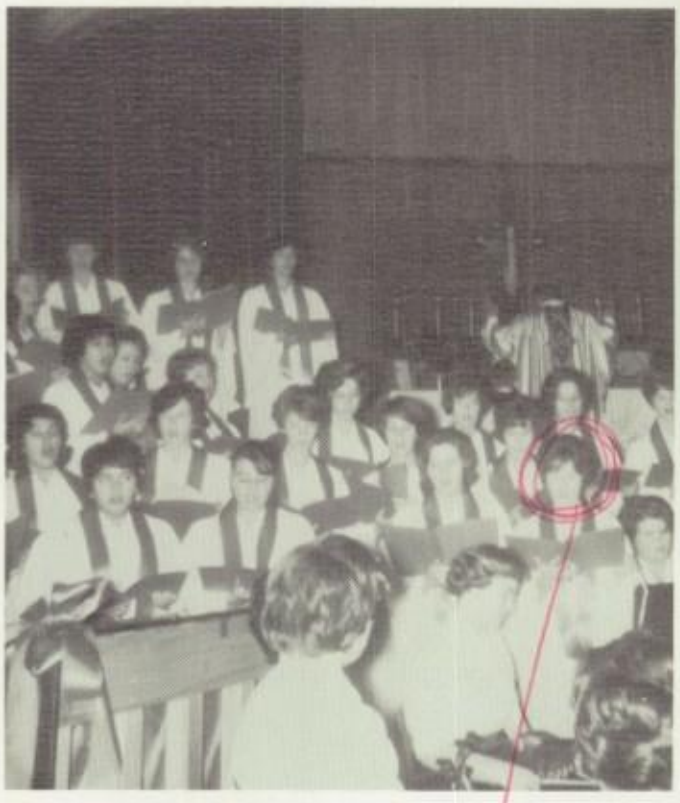
Funday, which included singing in the halls and the junior movie, also provided a chance at lunch-time for all to enjoy the newly green hill.

"Over the hill and through the woods to Grandmother's house we go" for a happy Thanksgiving Day.

Advent became more meaningful as art and religion classes presented visual symbols of the O Antiphons which were explained by accompanying meditations.

and Programs

Smiling juniors placed first in the table-decorating contest which gave a festive air to our cafeteria.



The seniors presented the traditional Christmas program as the verse choir and choral integrated Christmas themes and singing with the holy sacrifice of the Mass. A tableau of Our Lady of the Eucharist completed the serious part of our assembly.

The light side of Christmas was celebrated when Santa Claus with reindeers, sleigh and merry elves rewarded all our good girls.

The December Junior Prom with beautiful Christmas decorations made it truly a "Mid-Winter Night's Dream."

A model of the San Francisco bridge on the refreshment table indicates the theme of the seniors' October class dance, "City By the Bay."

Dances

Two sophomores and their dates enjoy the casual mood which marked the "Malt Shoppe Hop," the sophomore class record dance held in January.

The junior class dance for upperclassmen provided an evening of "Moments to Remember," featuring oldies but goodies records.

Mother-Daughter Tea

Members of the faculty and Student Council greet mothers and daughters in the Lincoln Parlor.

Ramona's quintet, Gloria Flye, Maria McGinley, Susan Twomey, Meline Anzalone, and Margaret Kyle, provided a delightful musical background for the annual Mother - Daughter Tea held during December.

Senior Marie Benitez and her mother enjoy refreshments and conversation with Mrs. Collet and her junior daughter, Missy Lee.

At tables beautified by festive Chistmas decorations, daughters prepare refreshments for their mothers.

"I go to the hill with the sound of music."

"Now that I know where to begin, I'm going to teach you how to sing."

"I am seventeen, going on eighteen; I'll take care of you."

"How do you solve a problem like Maria?"

"Maybe if we sing loudly enough we won't hear the thunder."

Sodality

Ramona attempts to fulfill the spiritual needs and aspirations of her students through the spiritual activities directed by Our Lady's Sodality. The Sodality itself, however, is not just an organization; it is a way of life. Those in the student body who belong to the Sodality participate in both spiritual activities in class groups and apostolic work through the various committees. These activities develop the whole girl by aiding her to mature spiritually and to grow in self-sacrifice and concern for others.

The Sodality provides a monthly Mass and general Communion, arranges two retreats, sponsors the Thanksgiving baskets for the poor, the Stamp Drive and the Tidings Drive; all activities which involve the entire student body.

Although the personal program outlined by the Sodality is rigorous, there is a spirit of generosity and happiness permeating all that is done under Our Lady's patronage.

The Sacristans, composed of Sodalists from all classes, help in the preparation for such spiritual activities as retreats, first Friday Masses and holy hours. The Sacristans also accompany the Blessed Sacrament to and from chapel, answer Mass and teach other girls these responses.

Being a Sacristan is a great privilege, for each service is directly connected with acts of adoration and worship.

Retreats

The annual day of recollection and three-day retreat give each girl a time of quiet amid the ordinary hustle and bustle of a full schedule and the opportunity for conversation with God.

The day of recollection, including a Mass of the Holy Spirit, begins the scholastic year while the retreat provides an excellent way to begin the season of Lent. Each girl attends conferences which are beneficial to her spiritual life. She has time for private mental prayer and spiritual reading amid the quiet atmosphere of Ramona's beautiful grounds. Memories of these times of resolution and their benefits and graces remain with her always.

Father Lawrence O'Leary gave an inspiring talk on the devoted work of the lay missionary.

Sodality Activities

During the annual Stamp Drive the Sodality office, deluged with stamps, gave strong indication of Ramona's apostolic spirit. The proceeds of the Stamp Drive benefit the missions in Basutoland.

The Sodality presented the traditional Mother Marie Rose Play in October. The play traced the life of Mother Marie Rose, foundress of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, from her days as a young woman, through her years in the novitiate and as a teacher working with young girls.

Athletics

"Spirited work and play...R.C.'s G.A.A." The Girls' Athletic Association is not only an organization for athletics, but it is also a workshop where characters are shaped and personalities are developed. The tools for this workshop are the activities centered around a strong sports program. This program is intensified by the participation of every girl, as a player who develops a greater sense of sportsmanship, as an excited spectator who does her part in winning the game through a wholehearted and enthusiastic support of her team; or as an official whose knowledge of rules and sense of fair play make our games possible."...And so in victory or in defeat, we will pledge ourselves that we will keep loyalty and love for thee...R.C.'s G.A.A."

Mary Kay,

I'm sure glad you took Chemistry this year; so we could be friends. I know next year you'll have a lot of fun as Senior Class President. Maybe next year when you come up to visit me we can go to some interesting places like we went to in Twoheys. I really want you to come up next year and visit me. We really have a lot of fun. (With your looks and bod you'll go far next year). $

Hi doll!

You're a real swingin' kid with a personality to match. You're a lot of fun to be with & I'm looking forward to seeing you during the summer.

Have fun & be good. Good luck "mighty? Senior."

Love y'all,

Bonnie

Dear Mary Kay,

We sure had a time in Chemistry this year. You're a real swinger — I guess we'll just have to see what we can do next year. Have fun this summer. Love ya

Love Ya,

Deanadee

Hi Bugie,

Well this has been one of the best years - Its really been a lot of fun messing around - I'll miss Pershing Square, China Town, etc. -

You've got a fabulous personality - Stay as sweet and darling always -

Don't drink or anything I wouldn't do -

God bless you -

Mary Kay,
Really has been a terrific fun this year. Always try to do nothing but as great this summer. Have fun this summer and be good. Love ya, Nancy

Dearest Mary Kay, Ernie, Donna's little brother,

Congratulations on getting S.C. President. I know you'll really be great. Course, your great anyway - HA HA. We've had so much fun this year - at P. Square especially. I know that you are going to be fat next year - fat headed - (just kidding - Thanks for driving us places this year. Remember a long time ago at that La Salle dance and then afterwards at Van de Kamps? Your a wienie - you get in all the pictures. Have lots of fun this summer as a member of the "Big Three" - If I don't lick my chops this year at the beach maybe I could share a room with you. I can hardly wait. Have lots of fun always and forever -

Be good, stay funny, and keep smiling,

Love,
Dais
